A Word From the Publisher

Trucking is a service that reflects the ups and downs of the economy in North America. So it's not unusual to see freight carriers go through regular cycles of expansion and retrenchment.

Even so, this past year was a particularly challenging one for many of the companies on the Transport Topics Top 100 For-Hire Carriers list.

Soaring fuel costs and weak freight demand led carriers to cut back on spending, lay off staff and shrink the size of their fleets.

Two carriers – Jevic Transportation and Performance Transportation Services – went out of business, along with hundreds, if not thousands, of smaller carriers and independent owner-operators.

Revenue for the Top 100 for-hire carriers in 2007 rose 4.7%, less than half the rate of the previous year. A total of 26 carriers reported revenue declines in 2007, compared with 11 that saw revenue fall during 2006.

Based on results of a survey done in conjunction with the collection of data for the Top 100, fleet executives are expected to rein in spending on equipment.

Based on 64 responses, fleets say they plan to buy an average of 209 tractors in the next 12 months. That's down 17% from the average of 252 tractors purchased in the prior 12 months.

An even greater decline is expected for trailers. Fleets surveyed said they plan to buy an average of 249 trailers in the next 12 months, compared with an average of 447 trailers in the previous year.

Even in a down year, however, there were pockets of prosperity and that is also reflected in the financial and operating performance of carriers on the 2008 Top 100 For-Hire Carriers list.

Howard S. Abramson

Anderson Trucking Service and LoneStar Transportation each saw revenue climb more than 20% in 2007. Both companies benefited from a resurgence of demand for flatbed and heavy specialized hauling services as exports of U.S.-made machinery and industrial goods boomed and domestic oil and gas drilling activity increased in response to rising crude oil prices.

Another flatbed carrier, Venture Transport Logistics, was taken over by private equity firm Welsh, Carson, Anderson & Stowe and merged with three oilfield haulers: Ace Transportation, Dynasty Transportation and Texas Hot Shot Co. Annual revenue for the combined companies is $563 million.

Higher fuel costs are probably here to stay and, as Senior Features Reporter Daniel P. Bearth reports, that is forcing shippers to rethink how and when they move freight and to consider new packaging and product formulations that reduce the volume and weight of shipments.

We are likely to see, according to one expert, modal shifts in which more goods are moved via rail instead of truck, truckload instead of less-than-truckload, and ground parcel delivery instead of air express.

Shippers also are reconsidering inventory strategies to reduce the distance needed to move goods from where they are made or stored to where they are used or purchased.

As always, we expect that our readers will find the information and analysis in the Top 100 For-Hire Carriers list to be an indispensable guide to understanding what's going on.

Acknowledgments and Sources

The 2008 TRANSPORT TOPICS Top 100 is a special project of the Transport Topics Publishing Group that features financial and operating information on the largest for-hire freight carriers in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Data were compiled from annual reports of publicly owned companies and directly from the management of privately owned companies. In some cases, revenue estimates were used to determine sector rankings.

Senior Features Writer Daniel P. Bearth is the project coordinator, with assistance from research intern Andrew Chido. The design is by Patrick Donlon, assistant director of art and production. Cover Design by Shawn Torres and Louisa Wimberly.
